Seeking the Spirit Building Community Changing the World

Wednesday, September 2, 2009 5:30 Dinner, 6:15 Worship
Family Worship: Being Unitarian Universalist Reverend Emily Manvel Leite
Come join friends of all ages for this half-hour worship service where we enjoy stories, songs, and participation! This month, we will be thinking about what it means to be Unitarian Universalist. 5:15PM craft, 5:30PM dinner (provided, with a vegan option, $1 donation requested), 6:15PM worship.

Sunday, September 6, 2009 9:15 and 11:15 a.m.
Expectorant for the Soul Reverend Mary Ann Macklin
How do we guide others to find the goodness within? How do we reawaken to the inner truth of who we are and what we do? We will explore these questions and others in this worship service which will focus on the mentoring role throughout our lives. Our Coming of Age Program will be introduced during our Children's Moment. The International Outreach Task Force will provide the Social Justice Moment.

Sunday, September 13, 2009 9:15 and 11:15 a.m.
Spiritual Eldering: Exploring the Still-Ness Reverend Mary Ann Macklin
Rabbi Zalman Schachter-Shalomi defines an elder as "a person who is still growing, still a learner, still with potential and whose life continues to have within it promise for, and connection to, the future." Join Reverend Macklin and Paul Lane for this worship service which will examine the practice of spiritual eldering within various spiritual traditions, including voices from our congregation's elders on the joys and frustrations of growing older

A Warm and Peaceful Ramadan Celebration

Thanks to everyone who helped make another Ramadan gathering with our friends from the Islamic Center a warm success of hospitality and peace on Friday, August 28. Gratitude to all volunteers. Special kudos to Erin Hollinden, without whose organizational skills this event would not have gone so smoothly. We are very grateful for the members of both the Islamic Community and our congregation for their joyous participation.

MAM's Musings

In mid-August I drove to St. Paul Minnesota, via Madison, Wisconsin, to attend a media training for the Unitarian Universalist Association's new public advocacy campaign entitled, "Standing on the Side of Love". In terms of the media, I learned a lot and I found that I have a lot more to learn. As to the campaign, I believe it is full of potential for Unitarian Universalism, our congregation and our ongoing focus on social justice.

Here is the official description for the Standing on the Side of Love campaign for our Unitarian Universalist Association:

Standing on the Side of Love is a public advocacy campaign, sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Association, promoting respect for the inherent worth and dignity of every person. Standing on the Side of Love will confront exclusion, oppression and violence based on identity. Based in the aspiration to create beloved community, the campaign will pursue social change through advocacy, public witness and speaking out in solidarity with those whose lives are publicly demeaned. All people, not just Unitarian Universalists, are invited to stand, speak, worship, march, roll, and live on the side of the love.

During the training we were informed that a newly created "Standing on the Side of Love" web-site will be available beginning September 1st, 2009. I encourage everyone to check it out and see what you think.

The current health care debate is ripe with issues that ask us to stand on the side of love. In a recent perspectives column for our local paper I addressed one of these issues. In part, I wrote,

"In the end, it's about love, not fear. The frightening assertions about "death panels" made by Sarah Palin in connection with current health care reform are mythical.

As a minister serving a large congregation, I work with end-of-life issues on a weekly basis. Please listen. The health care bill proposed that if the patient wishes to have an end-of-life conversation with her or his physician, Medicare would cover counseling fees for that conversation in which patient and doctor could discuss end-of-life care issues such as pain management, living wills, choosing a trusted health care representative, and learning about hospice.

My mother had four different Living Wills to guarantee that her end-of-life wishes for care were followed. Still, when the end of her life was near, a nursing home staff member went against Mom's wishes. My family is fortunate that Mom and her physician had had that important, loving conversation about the parameters of her end-of-life care. I only had to make one phone call and her doctor acted swiftly to ensure her wishes.

Whatever one's faith perspective, from conservative to liberal, theist or non-theist, my hope is that we can all stand on the side of love and guarantee these conversations take place. May our Senate and House see the wisdom of retaining end-of-life counseling in the health care reform bill. In the end, it's about love, not fear."

I invite everyone to consider ways that you might stand on the side of love.

Peace, MAM

Reverend Mary Ann Macklin

We will be creating a new church directory in October. Please be sure to update your address, email, and phone info by October 22, to Ginger Ko at office@uubloomington.org. If you would be willing to read the directory online, instead of receiving a paper copy in the mail, please let us know. It will save us $$.

? The Mystery of the Gold Question Mark

On the very dynamic on-line calendar in our new database, if you see a gold question mark next to an event, it does not mean that the event is tentative. It means there's more info! Move your mouse pointer over the question mark to magically reveal the added helpful info. Go to www.uubloomington.org and click on "Full Calendar."

I Walbicus. Do You?

I like to get to church by foot. I like to get to church by bike. I like to get to church with a friend. I would like to be able to get to church in a bus. Earth Care designated Sunday, September 13 as Walbicus (Walk, Bike, Carpool or Bus) to Worship Day for Bloomington. Anyone who walks, bikes or carpools to church on September 13 may pick up a free "I Walbicus. Do You?" button at the Green Sanctuary Task Force table in Fellowship Hall between services.

Cut Your Carbon and Your Costs

Learn how to calculate, monitor and reduce your carbon footprint while also reducing your energy bills. This workshop is co-sponsored by Earth Care, People's University and Bloomingfoods, in two sessions:

Tuesdays (4), September 22 - October 13 from noon - 1:30 pm, register by Sept. 16 or

Thursdays (4), October 8 - October 29 from 7 - 8:30 pm, register by October 1

Both workshops are in the Hooker Room of City Hall and cost $4 for City residents, $5 for others plus an additional $10 for the workbook. To register call 349-3700 or visit www.bloomington.in.gov/parks.

UU Wednesday Walkers / Come Walk and Talk

The Wednesday Walkers invite you to join them for exercise and conversation. We meet at the church parking lot at 10 a.m. each Wednesday and either walk from the church or drive to a nearby location. The walks will be about one hour long. No need to reserve. Just show up at 10. All ages, abilities and newcomers welcome. Questions: contact Denise Ogren, 336 6597 or dogren@comcast.net.

There are Stars in Our Midst

There are stars in our midst - no they are not in the sky - they are in the kitchen making sure that coffee and tea and bagels are available for you and that the kitchen gets cleaned up on Sunday morning.

There is a dedicated group of about 15 people taking turns doing the work - we also have some rising stars undergoing training on Sunday, September 6th. Please thank these people for their dedication and consider joining the java crew. The sign up sheet is available in Fellowship Hall. We are especially in need of people for the 3rd crew, which is responsible for clean-up. If every beverage drinker would sign up to help out 2-4 times a year, we wouldn't need to be asking for your help now. (Remember that Rev. Breeden suggested before he left on sabbatical that all of us might help with this excellent way to be hospitable.)

Other java news: a small group is looking at ways to make the work of the java crew easier. Please share your ideas with Anne Haynes, 336-3221, or Jackie Hall jmhall@indiana.edu. We will be meeting again on September 13th. Please thank the people who are bringing you fellowship hour and consider joining them.

Our Whole Lives Sexuality Education: For First and Second Graders

Our Whole Lives (OWL) sexuality education for first and second graders will be offered on Wednesday evenings this fall. Our Whole Lives is guided by the following two principles; parents have primary responsibility for sexuality education with their children; and sexuality education begins at home and continues through open and honest communication between parents and children. OWL for first and second graders covers a range of topics including bodies, gender, families, feelings and babies. Key concepts of health and safety, love and family, birth and babies, sex and gender are discussed in age appropriate language. Children are engaged through songs, stories and activities which set the context for learning diversity and practicing respect and inclusivity. A Parent Informational Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday September 9th from 6:30pm-8pm, with childcare provided. This meeting is open to parents who are interested in using materials at home as well as those interested in the course.

The required Parent Child Orientation will occur on September 30th from 6:30pm to 8pm. The class will be offered on Wednesday evenings in October and November by experienced facilitators Cindy Port and Phil Cooper. We are committed to making OWL available to all of our children and youth on a regular basis and we continue to work on getting more adults trained as facilitators in order to do so.

There are six programs in the OWL series; the Young Adult version will be offered on Fridays starting in mid September. In 2010-

2011 we plan to offer OWL to grades 5-6 and grades 7-8. Contact Cindy Port if you are interested in registering your first or second grader in OWL this fall or if you might be interested in getting trained as a facilitator. --Cindy Port, Director of Religious Education

An Unexpected Blessing

It was a last minute decision to join a Chalice Circle. Not because I didn't want to see what it was all about, or because I didn't want to connect on a more personal level with other people, but because I didn't want to give up any more of my small, precious uncommitted time. I am very glad that I chose to join a Chalice Circle group. We met twice a month and I did get to know a small group of people much better. I did get to work on my deep listening skills and the reward has been far greater than I imagined. I have connected with long forgotten moments from the past and explored thoughts and concepts in new and different ways. The Chalice Circle experience has been an unexpected blessing; it allows time to be set aside to be still and with others. My group decided to share session facilitation, alternating between us. This required little preparation and included picking a topic from the book compiled for Chalice Circle Facilitators. The topics often took us in directions we didn't foresee. I always felt safe and respected even when I was uncomfortable with a chosen topic. Sometimes I spoke more and sometimes hardly at all, but it was always what felt right for me. Would I recommend joining a Chalice Circle Group? Absolutely.

International Outreach Task Force: September Social Justice Month Activities

September is the International Outreach Task Force (IOTF) social justice month. We are quite excited to highlight the small part we play within the larger picture of social justice work done at our church.

Sunday, September 6 – The Unitarian Universalist Church of Burundi Micro Lending Breakfast, 10:15 am – 11:15 am. Come join us for breakfast and learn more about the wonderful work this UU church is doing within their own community, right in the heart of Africa. The path is made by walking. --African Proverb

Sunday, September 13 – Adopt A Kid Costa Rica Bake Sale
Stop by our table in Fellowship Hall and purchase some goodies, for a good cause. The Adopt A Kid Costa Rica program raises money to assist rural families in northeastern Costa Rica to pay the cost of school books and uniforms for their children.

Sunday, September 20 – The Ndethya wa Ngutethya, Kenya Lunch Forum 1:00pm – 3:00pm. A Kenyan inspired lunch, music, and photo and film presentation from the recent trip Claire Robertson, Jason Blankenship, and Maemie Blankenship made to Kenya. Also available for sale: African and African-inspired jewelry, baskets, and cloth items. Proceeds support the Ndethya wa Ngutethya project. Discussion will focus on our support for the Ndethya wa Ngutethya women's cooperative in Kathonzweni, Kenya.

Monday, September 28 – Ndethya wa Ngutethya Jewelry & Collectible Sale

11:00am – 4:00pm. Indiana University, 220 Woodburn Hall. One of the captivating experiences from our recent trip to Kenya was to go to different markets around Nairobi to shop for various items. Bringing these items back and selling them is the main way in which we generate financial support for the Ndethya wa Ngutethya women's cooperative. Spread the word, or come out yourself and buy something nice.

--Jason Blankenship

Join the Choir!

Interested singers are always welcome to come to rehearsals on Thursday nights, 7-8:30 in the Meeting Room. For further information about choir policies and schedules, see the choir wiki on the Adult Choir page of the website, or email Susan Swaney (music@uubloomington.org). It's a great seat for seeing the UU kids!

Get and Stay Connected:

Getting Involved Fair will be held September 20. This will be an opportunity for all committees and groups in the church to "advertise" and "recruit" new members. This is a great opportunity for new friends and visitors to see the wide variety of activities available and to talk with folks from these groups. This fun event will take place after each service on Sunday, September 20. All groups in the church are welcome to participate. If you did not already receive information about this and you wish to have a table, please contact Denise Ogren so tables can be set up for you. dogren@comcast.net.

Chalice Circles: Sign Up Now through Sept 13

On Sunday, August 9, Chalice Circles were reintroduced for the fourth year. Everyone should have received a letter and brochure in the mail describing the program. Chalice Circles is small group ministry that enables us to know others and ourselves better by deep listening with an open heart. The groups are guided by a facilitator who uses written session plans.

There are many different Chalice Circle meeting times offered. If you need childcare, sign up for the group that meets on Thursday evenings at the church and indicate that you need childcare. Sign up sheets are posted in the Commons and will be available through Sunday, September 13. The next step after sign-up is to attend the Chalice Circle Kick Off on Sunday September 13, from 4:00-6:00 pm in the Meeting Room. This is the required orientation meeting of your Chalice Circle. Please mark your calendar. If you are unable to attend you will be contacted to attend a make-up session. Details, please contact Chris Clothier at 332-3622 (c_clothier@sbcglobal.net), or Alan Backler at 812-340-1323 (abackler@aol.com)

Women's Drum Circle

September 11 Dorothy Sowell, Chris Clothier, Jeanette Miller, and Nancy Richman will host a drumming circle for women on Friday, September 11, from 6:30-8:30 pm in Fellowship Hall. All levels of drumming experience are welcome. We encourage you to bring drums or percussion instruments; drums are not provided. The four of us, who are novice drummers, would like to share our excitement about drumming with other women. Join us for a spiritual evening of drumming and fellowship.

Newcomers Invited to

Exploring UU Class New to the church and want to learn more about Unitarian Universalism and this congregation? Sign up for the Exploring UU class at the Welcome Table in the foyer. The class will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sundays September 13 and 20. Free child care is available with advance notice. For information contact Libby DeVoe, 336-8688, edevoe@indiana.edu

New Member in August

A warm welcome to Kara Reagan, who joined the congregation on August 16.

Kara Reagan grew up near Indianapolis and moved to Bloomington in 1996 for undergraduate studies. She now lives with her husband, Mark Stoops, and their children - including three-year old Chloe, who attends services with Kara. Kara is an attorney with Stafford Law Office, LLC, where she practices family law, serves as a mediator, and works as a Guardian ad Litem for children. When she's not working, she enjoys traveling, reading, quilting, and spending as much time as possible with her family.
