In 2011, delegates at the UUA General Assembly in Charlotte, North Carolina, approved Ethical Eating: Food and Environmental Justice as a 2011 Statement of Conscience, which addresses the ethical issues regarding our food choices. What does this statement mean for us as individuals in our spiritual lives? As a congregation? Chew on this a bit and let's learn together.

Getting Involved: If Not Now, When?

Reverend Bill Breeden

Part of being in community is being involved. Our community includes this congregation, the city of Bloomington, the state of Indiana, the world and maybe even the whole universe. Join us for a Sunday of reflection and celebration for Getting Involved. Our Getting Involved Fair will take place after each service and our Chalice Circle Kick-off will occur in the afternoon.

From the Ministers

What can we do to help the ministers? We often get this question regarding our general ministerial duties here in this congregation. Our overall response is Seek the Spirit, Build Community, Change the World. Here in September of 2012 we offer some specific possibilities.

Seek the Spirit: Sign up for an Adult Ed class. Spend at least an hour outside, or if you cannot go outdoors then observe nature from within.

Build Community: Sign up for a Chalice Circle. These circles of deep listening offer a pastoral presence for all participants. Also, please read your Prologue, even the parts that don't pertain to you, so you can be a resource for newcomers; we are making efforts to be more brief in our Prologue messages to accommodate the digital world.

Change the World: Keep informed and participate in activities rising from our THIRTEEN Social Justice Task Forces.

Overall: Keep informed and act well in love.

Reverend Macklin will be gone in mid-September to attend a workshop on The Second Half of Life with her mentor Angeles Arrien in Minnesota. Reverend Breeden will be gone in mid-November to offer the installation sermon for Reverend Andy Burnett in Phoenix, Arizona.

Peace, MAM & Bill

Reverend Mary Ann Macklin and Reverend Bill Breeden

An Invitation to Share Your Spiritual Discipline with Young Adults

Do you have a regular spiritual practice that has been transformative in your own life? Would you like to introduce it to others? Members of our weekly Spiritual Exploration Group on the IU campus are interested in learning about ways to develop spiritually through such disciplines as breathwork or chanting, various forms of meditation or prayer, movement or *Lectio Divina*, mandalas or morning pages, practices of gratitude or forgiveness, periodic food fasts or media fasts, etc. The theme of spiritual practices will be incorporated into many of the Spiritual Exploration meetings on Tuesday evenings this fall, and there may be other opportunities to share as well. Intrigued? Please contact Shari Woodbury at uucampus@uubloomington.org or 345-8313.

Chalice Circles Gave Us Space to Share, by Alexandra Buck

Chalice Circles gave us a family here at the UU. Here, we found a space to share our joys and challenges during a year of transition. And here we went not so much to speak, but to listen to others and in this way, hear our own voices a little bit more clearly.

I say "we" because José and I shared the Chalice Circle experience together. Perhaps it is not common for couples to do small group ministry together, but I can't think of better pre-marital counseling than a circle where we explore -- in community -- diverse ideas about topics ranging from our family stories, loss, non-violence, and change. Learning to listen without judging, planning your thoughts, or preparing a retort is a useful tool not only for a healthy relationship with a partner, but for many situations: at work, with our families, and even in a church service. In any situation where it is more valuable to speak from the heart than to judge with the mind.

Here, I learned more about myself by listening to others. This practice helped me become more aware of my communication habits and practice a new style of interaction based in compassion and not competition. The act of speaking from the heart – without guile or intentions – is a bold and radical act. Through Chalice Circles, I was able to separate myself a bit more from the burden of good impressions and simply be, and be totally accepted and totally loved. Chalice Circle Sign-ups continue through September 16th. Contact Alan Backler for more information, [abackler@aol.com ]

When we get all the photos uploaded, you'll be able to log onto the database and create your own pictorial directory online. If you are wondering when would be the best day to have your photo taken, we suggest using the alphabetical guide below to help moderate the traffic flow. This is optional, of course.

Neighborhood Champions for WALBICUS to Worship needed!

WALBICUS (Walk, Bike, Carpool or Bus) to Worship, Sunday, October 7th, is the day when we join with other faith communities in Bloomington to find new ways of coming to worship in order to lighten our steps on the earth.

It's difficult to carpool if you don't know who lives near you! So, in preparation for WALBICUS Sunday, the Green Sanctuary Task Force is offering our congregation the chance to meet their UU neighbors. On Sunday, September 30th, after each service, we invite the congregation to step into Fellowship Hall to meet with others in their larger neighborhood and to arrange carpools or walking/biking groups for WALBICUS Sunday. Neighborhood Champions will be the point person for each "WALBICUS district" in and beyond Bloomington.

We need more Neighborhood Champions! This is a great opportunity to meet more of your neighbors, reach out to new neighbors, and to help encourage carpooling at UU Bloomington. You will have a big impact for a limited time commitment. To sign up or with questions, please contact Rosalind May at rmay615@yahoo.com.

Radical Hospitality In Action

August and September are the peak months for guests at our church. It is important that we make folks feel welcome, so it is essential for everyone to take the time to greet newcomers. Our fellowship hour is noisy and intimidating if you don't know anyone, and YOU can help guests feel at home. Use one of the new "Welcome Mugs". Please watch for faces you don't recognize or look for people standing alone. Go over and introduce yourself. "I don't believe that we have met before" will break the ice even if this is a long time member whom you don't know. Maybe you can invite the guest to sit with you during the service. And wear your name tag! If you need a new name tag please sign up at the welcome table in the foyer. Help us welcome guests here as warmly as if they were coming to your home.

--Judy Bennett, Membership Coordinator

Founders of Our UU Outlook: Joseph Priestley

Joseph Priestley made major contributions to science, education, theology, and political science. He joined what the British called the “dissenters” because he tried to preach a Christianity that was “uncontaminated”. His book, on “the corruptions of Christianity” proposed a Unitarian view of God. Jesus was the son of Joseph and Mary; he was human; and he taught us how to live an ethical life. Priestley read about Benjamin Franklin’s discovery that lightning was a form of electricity and he conducted hundreds of experiments that he compiled and sent a copy to Franklin.

Priestley championed the independence of the Colonies. He adopted the Enlightenment philosophy that knowledge would bring about social change and lead to progress and happiness. He invented the time-line to represent a horizontal history of influential people from antiquity to his own time. He did experiments at a brewery and discovered carbon dioxide. He bubbled this gas through water and found it produced soda water which he found pleasing as a refreshment. He also isolated oxygen from a mercury compound.

Public opinion turned against Priestley for his beliefs. A mob gathered forcing him to flee with his family, and his church, home, and laboratory were burnt to the ground. Priestley came to the US and became friends with Thomas Jefferson, who used Priestley’s book to compose the Jefferson Bible, a collection of teachings about Jesus stripped of his deification. -- Elof Axel Carlson, Congregational Historian

NAMI Class Forming Wait List for Spring Session

This class is for family members and friends of individuals suffering from a major mental illness such as schizophrenia, bipolar, depression, post traumatic stress syndrome, etc. The fall class began in August and it filled early, so unfortunately, some interested people were not able to enroll. ## Office Assistants Can Help You With Administrative Questions

Our office, Room 204, is staffed every Sunday of the world for 45 minutes after each service by a member of our administrative staff: Church Administrator Carol Marks, Erica Caldwell, or Monica Overman. Our Office Assistants Erica Caldwell and Monica Overman are trained administrative professionals who can facilitate administrative questions or functions on Sunday mornings or during the work week, Monday through Friday. Erica is a Navy veteran who has been on our staff since April 2011, and although Monica just joined our staff in July, she has over 20 years of experience working with a non-profit organization, and is learning the ropes quickly. They are here to help.

Kay Crider, our UUA Consultant, will facilitate an Appreciative Inquiry (AI) Workshop for any and all interested congregational members and friends on Saturday, September 29 from 4:00-5:30 PM in Fellowship Hall. Its principles include valuing our strengths, discovering what gives our church life and vibrancy today and envisioning our future.

The overall purpose of the weekend with Kay is to provide our church with an objective eye to gather information and identify strengths, opportunities, and areas needing improvement. Planning is moving right along. Kay will meet with the ministers, staff, lay leaders and interested congregation members and friends on Friday and Saturday as well as facilitate the AI workshop on Saturday. She will present her initial observations and recommendations to the entire congregation after the second service on Sunday, September 29th. A detailed written report will be provided two weeks after the visit.

Please make room in your schedule to participate so that our congregation will get the most out of this visit. This is a wonderful opportunity to consider and share your ideas, dreams, fears, observations, whatever . . . concerning our congregation. We hope you will be able to participate.
