

Happy Holidays UU RE Families!

We hope that you have a wonderful and safe holiday season whether you are staying near or travelling far. We are excited to share with you a little bit about our January 2018 Creativity Intersession! This year, we are going to be learning all about Sophia Lyon Fahs.

Sophia Lyon Fahs was a UU religious educator. She wanted children to be active and doing things; to explore outside and to hear wonderful stories. We have made a fun activity booklet for you to do so you can learn more about her. There is also a sheet that is both activity cards and a puzzle for you to do at home. And your very own Flat Sophia.

Here are 5 easy steps to have fun with your Flat Sophia

Step 1: Take this “Flat Sophia” and cut her out

Step 2: Give her clothes and accessories using fabric, paper or markers.

Step 3: Take Sophia with you; on vacation, to visit family, around town, to the park, or even your blanket fort.

Step 4: Take a pic and include Sophia.

Step 5: Tag it #uucb

Follow Sophia’s travels on Facebook or Twitter @uucbindiana

Starting on Sunday, January 7th we will meet in Fellowship Hall immediately after Time for All Ages and split into our groups. Kids will be divided into a group that will stay the same for the entire month of January. Kids in Kindergarten-8th grade will travel with a guide to a different specialty each week. At 9:15am our preschool classes will join in the fun, but stay together as their own group. They will begin and end in Room 103. At 11:15am, preschool will have their usual Spirit Play class in Room 103.

Best,
UU Bloomington Religious Education Team
